

South Mountain Fair Closes; One of Best in State Experts Declare

Attendance At Fair Larger This Year
Than Last; Test Exhibit Interesting.

From almost every standpoint, the South Mountain fair was a complete success. Financially it was far better than any previous fair held by the association, the receipts being more than $7000, S. A. Skinner, treasurer of the association, announced this morning. In the neighborhood of 7000 persons paid admissions during the three days of the exhibition, and in addition to this several thousand school children were admitted and no fee charged.

From an educational and entertaining standpoint the program and exhibits provided were claimed by a majority of the patrons to be far above any other fair in this section of the country.

Judges from Pennsylvania State college complimented the officials highly on the latter's efforts to make the county exposition a strictly agriculture fair. The experts also declared that the fruit, vegetable and livestock exhibits were of a higher quality than that which appeared at other fairs throughout the state, at which they have been judges.

Potato Test

The address by Dr. C. G. Jordan, secretary of agriculture, was the feature of the day's program. Following Doctor Jordan's address the prize winners staged a parade, headed by the Knights of Pythias band of Chambersburg. In the evening several members of the Gettysburg Dramatic club presented reading, songs and monologues followed by a concert by Flaming Arrows Teepee Singers. The exhibits were taken down after 10 o'clock.

A feature of the vegetable exhibit was the variety test of the six different potatoes which are grown in Adams county.

APPLE CANNING TO BEGIN MONDAY

Biglerville, Gardners, Orrtanna and Peach Glen Factories
Soon to be Opened.

Between three and four hundred people will begin canning part of the county apple crop within a few days and several thousand will find work in the packing houses.

With the crop held back several weeks, the bulk of the packing and canning has been delayed, but by Monday the apple industry will commence starting its products on their initial steps toward the city markets.

The Biglerville plant of the C. H. Musselman company, canners of apples, will make a trial run Saturday, an official stated this morning, and on Monday it is expected that work will be in full blast. Between 2000 and 2500 bushels of apples are canned a day at the plant, which gives employment to approximately 150 persons.

The Gardners plant of this concern will begin packing the early varieties soon and will also start canning. The best grades received at this plant are packed in barrels and the culls and drops prepared for canning. The Blue Ribbon packing house supplies part of the product for the Biglerville plant, but many of the orchardists deal directly.

Experts say that the crop this year is comparable with the crop of 1924, when an average price of 80 cents a 100 pounds was paid for canning apples. Officials at the Biglerville plant refused to state just what the price outlook for the coming season is, indicating that the fluctuation would be such as to make a close estimate almost impossible.

The Orrtanna Canning company will also begin canning Monday, the proprietors, John and Ivan Musselman, stated this morning. This factory will give employment to approximately 100 persons during the season. Knouse and Fohl, canners of Peach Glen, will begin canning early next week, but a definite date has not been set.

Doctor Jordan Advocates Best Grades
Of Animals And Seed For County Farmers.

Declaring there is always room at the top for the best products of the farm, Dr. C. G. Jordan, state secretary of agriculture, speaking at the South Mountain Fair, Thursday afternoon, urged the farmers in his audience to strive to raise the finest cattle, crops and fruits.

"I believe in cooperative marketing," he said, "but I more firmly believe in raising the right kind of farm products, put up in the right kind of way and then, if possible, sold cooperatively."

"There is always room at the top for the best whether it be cattle, crops or fruit," the speaker continued, adding as a touch of humor that "marketable" farm girls will "fetch better prices" on the marriage mart if they are "fixed up a little."

Urges Best Breeds

Doctor Jordan urged his audience to select the best breeds of cattle, crops and horses, to grade and pack their apples and peaches so that the fruit may be sold to better advantage and to select only the cleanest and best seed wheat, seed corn and seed potatoes so that crops may be clean and free of diseases.

The speaker told what the state department of agriculture is doing toward the elimination of various diseases and pests which have been damaging ruts and field crops, discussing the Japanese beetle, the oriental peach moth and the corn borer.

Pointing out that the corn borer has not reached Adams county, he advised the farmers to cut down corn this fall as close to the ground as possible and to plow under every stubble and blade of grass in the field as one of the best methods of combating this insect.

May Get State Aid

He said entomologists are engaged in discovering parasites for the ultimate eradication of the oriental peach moth, the corn borer and the Japanese beetle, but that it would be at least ten years before the parasites can become effective.

One statement of Doctor Jordan particularly pleased the officials of the fair. After complimenting the fair association upon the character and extent of the exhibits, Doctor Jordan said the fair next year would be in line for state aid and that he would put no obstacle in the way of securing an appropriation. It was pointed out that an incorporated fair was entitled to state aid after being in existence for two years. The South Mountain Fair has rounded out its second year.

Urges Sheep Raising

Doctor Jordan urged the growing of sheep in the county. "Your wonderment," he said, "is your opportunity."

BRITISH FLIERS HOPOFF TODAY ACROSS ATLANTIC

MacIntosh And Fitz-maurice Travel New Course From England To New York.

Dublin, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Captain Robert H. MacIntosh and Commandant James C. Fitzmaurice this afternoon set out in a daring effort to make a record in the air. They hopped off for New York on a trail that has never been followed to its westward end.

The two pilots who fought in the air during the World War, and who have flown steadily since, were confident they would be able to meet the challenge of the Atlantic which claimed Nungesser and Gail, the French occupants of the White Bird, and the Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, Captain Hamilton and Colonel Minchin, of the St. Raphael.

"I have every confidence in the success of our attempt," said Captain MacIntosh as they finished their preparations for the hopoff. "We have made every possible test of our machine and the weather report is better than we have had in a long time and as good as we can expect."

The fliers were in danger of being mobbed by admirers who crowded about them and their plane to deluge them with congratulations.

Finally Fitzmaurice breaking away from the friendly crowd turned to MacIntosh and said:

"Come on, Mack, let's get on the machine and get a bit of peace."

Fitzmaurice embraced his wife and little daughter and they stood by and waved their handkerchiefs as he entered the plane.

The crowd cheered lustily with loud cries of good luck as the machine took to the air. Despite its load of 720 gallons of gasoline the plane rose without difficulty.

PARADE AT NOON ATTRACTS MANY

Accident at Carlisle Early This Morning Delays Arrival of Main Shows.

Ideal weather prevailed for the afternoon showing of the Walter L. Main circus on the old fair grounds, West High street, today, and the crowd at the first of the two performances was reported to be large.

Delayed, in arriving here by an accident in Carlisle, where the show played Thursday, the tent crews were forced to exert every possible ounce of energy to get the "big top" and other tents up in time for this afternoon's performance.

The parade, which got under way at 12:30 o'clock, also was late getting started, and was cut short. The blaring of several bands and three calliope quickly brought throngs to the sidewalks to witness the parade. The circus has a goodly number of animals and performers and is one of the best to show here in recent years.

This evening's performance is scheduled for 8 o'clock. The show moves to Chambersburg after leaving here.

PLANT WORKERS TO HAVE PICNIC

85 Employees of Sure Foot Company and Families to Have Outing.

Coincident with the announcement that the employees of the Sure Foot Heel and Rubber company, at North Washington street and the railroad, will hold a picnic Saturday afternoon at Hershey park, comes the information that the Sure Foot company now has 85 workers and is turning out approximately 50,000 rubber heels a day.

The plant is operating to capacity day and night. Roy P. Funkhouser, president and general manager, told a Times reporter, in response to inquiries. In contrast to the big production of rubber heels at the plant today, he said that a year ago the plant was turning out only about 5,000 heels daily.

Mr. Funkhouser declined to discuss reports that the rubber heel company was seeking a new location in Gettysburg to build a larger and more modern plant. He said, however, that present prospects indicate strongly that some day in the not far distant future the rubber heel plant would be Gettysburg's largest industry.

It was learned incidentally that the Sure Foot payroll weekly is now about $2,000. At present, the plant is unable to take care of all its orders. Credit for the increased sales and maximum plant production was given by Mr. Funkhouser to J. B. Reynolds, secretary-treasurer and sales manager, and F. R. Rowe, plant superintendent and production manager.

The 85 employees and their families will leave the plant in trucks and passenger automobiles at noon Saturday for Hershey park, along the Lincoln Highway west of town, for their first annual outing which will be featured with a Weiner and corn roast. Mrs. Rowe, wife of the plant superintendent, is in charge of the arrangements for the refreshments.

CIRCUS EMPLOYEE DIES, 1 HURT IN TRAIN ACCIDENT

Driver For Wagon Of Main Show Killed
When Engine Hits Pole Wagon At Carlisle.

One employee of the Walter L. Main circus, showing here today, died of injuries and another was probably fatally hurt in Carlisle early today when a Cumberland Valley passenger train ran into a wagon hauling poles from the circus lot to the Reading depot.

Thomas Reilly, 45, died shortly after 1 o'clock this morning in the Carlisle hospital. Harry Smith, 50, was so badly injured that at noon today he had not regained consciousness. His condition was said to be critical.

After the night performance in Carlisle Thursday, the tents were taken down and loaded on wagons to be hauled to the Reading station to entrain for Gettysburg.

Reilly and Smith were driving a span of six horses hauling a heavy load of tent poles. They left the circus lot in West Louthier street, and to reach the Reading tracks they were compelled to cross the tracks of the Cumberland Valley railroad on East High street.

The crossing on this route is elevated. As the horses were pulling the heavy load up the incline, they were momentarily stalled.

Just then the passenger train which leaves Carlisle at 12:06 a. m. for Harrisburg came along. The six horses had cleared the tracks. The wagon was partly across when the train hit it.

Reilly and Smith were thrown off the seat of the wagon to the street. The wagon load of poles was overturned.

Foster Lease, of Harrisburg, engineer of the train, stopped it within two car lengths. The train had not attained full speed after leaving the station a few blocks away. The conductor, Al Springer, of Lemoyne, hurried to the scene of the crash and helped direct efforts in getting the two men to the Carlisle hospital.

The accident delayed the circus entraining for several hours and instead of arriving here shortly after 2 o'clock this morning, the train did not arrive in the Reading yards until nearly 7 o'clock. The wrecked wagon was brought along with the other paraphernalia and attracted much attention here. B. W. Hummer, local trucker, was secured to haul some of the circus equipment to the show grounds as a result of the accident.

Doctor Jordan Urges

ful hillside would be excellent for the raising of sheep," he said, pointing out how sheep culture has fallen off in Pennsylvania in the last forty years. In connection with sheep raising, Doctor Jordan asserted that the department of agriculture was doing everything in its power to control dogs. "Last year our agents killed 13,000 dogs which had been causing deaths among sheep herds," he said. The state secretary of agriculture pointed to the necessity for tuberculin testing of cattle, asserting that milk from such stock not only commanded better prices but was the only fit milk to feed infants and grown-ups. Doctor Jordan urged his hearers to cooperate with R. E. Underwood, Adams county farm agent, "to the end that farm problems may be worked out in a practical way." Citing statistics, Doctor Jordan said the value of Adams county's crops last year was $5,414,624, which included wheat, $1,609,911; corn, $1,249,252; rye, $26,303; oats, $177,047; buckwheat, $12,427; potatoes, $251,298; tame hay, $1,263,549; apples, $706,230; peaches, $105,740, and pears, $12,787. These figures, he said, did not embrace the value of milk, eggs, honey and wool which totaled $2,055,890. Livestock on county farms had a value of $3,080,130, he said. Doctor Jordan arrived at the fair grounds at 2 o'clock, coming to Adams county from Philadelphia where he spoke the night before. His address followed the afternoon chautauqua. The secretary of agriculture remained at the fair for nearly an hour after his address, visiting the various exhibit buildings. He was warm in his praise of the exhibits and complimented the fair officials upon the absence of fakers and gambling devices on the grounds.

the county. Six growers each planted a row of each of the six varieties and when they were raised, they were weighed and an estimate of the yield per acre was made. At the fair the varieties were judged on their grade, yield and quality. The New Russet seed had the highest yield, the estimate being 200 bushels to the acre, as compared with 138 bushels raised from old Russet seed. Green Mountain was second with an estimated yield of 197 bushels, White Rural was 172, Sir Walter Raleigh 180 and Gold Coin 130.
The six persons cooperating in the variety test received premiums for their spuds, in the following order: Paul Hoffman, M. E. Knouse, Dale Knouse, Mrs. Emory Pitzer, Frank Smith and D. M. Hoffman. Two of the growers sprayed their tubers while four did not, and as a result the yield of the sprayed over the unsprayed potatoes was 67 bushels increase.
While a definite report of the amount of money received at the various departments of the fair has not been announced, Mr. Skinner stated that $2948.41 was taken in for admissions and parking and the remainder of the $7000 from the restaurant and riding devices. A total of $2200 was collected at the gate

BANDITS MURDER
RETIRED DOCTOR

Posses Arrest Three Suspects in Shooting and Robbery at Hammonton, N. J.

Hammonton, N. J., Sept. 16.—(AP)—A retired physician was shot to death and his wife beaten yesterday by two negroes who jumped on the running board of their automobile and attacked them on Middle Road near here.

Dr. William Lilliendahl, 60, who lives on a small fruit farm near Vine-land, was killed in a desperate attempt to route the highwaymen and his wife was struck several times on the head when she came to his aid.

Before the negroes fled into the woods bordering the road they stripped rings from the fingers of Mrs. Lilliendahl, who is 45, and took a stick pin, ring and money from the body of her husband.

Tolling fire bells summoned farmers and residents of nearby communities to the scene of the attack, where they were organized into posses by state police. Armed with all sorts of weapons members of the posses beat the wooded sections and searched the countryside over a wide area. Capt. William Carter, of the state police, directed the search.

Three suspects were arrested several hours after the attack.

Extra Session Is Still Undecided

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Divergent views on the necessity of a special session of congress were presented to President Coolidge, but the weight of the statements by congressional callers seemed to be against it.

Speaker Longworth flatly opposed such a call. Senator Borah was indifferent about it, although believing little good would come of it. Senator Nye, of North Dakota, urged the session.

The white house visitors said the president still had an open mind.

C. A. HERSHEY

County Commissioner Seeks Re-Election

If the voters of Adams county want a careful, conscientious, business-like administration of the affairs of the county, they will unquestionably cast their ballots on September 20 for such men as C. A. Hershey, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner. Mr. Hershey entered the race for this office four years ago and received the nomination and was elected by a substantial majority. He has served the people of the county to the best of his ability and from all reports his work in office has been most satisfactory from every standpoint. He comes before the voters again and is seeking election on his record alone. Ever since he took office he has been on the job safeguarding the interest of the taxpayers. The present commissioners have done some very good work and if returned to office could continue their progressive policy and carry on the good work so conscientiously done during the past four years. Adams county needs such capable men in office, and it is to be expected that Mr. Hershey's efforts will be appreciated and that he will receive strong support at the approaching primaries in recognition of the excellent service rendered during his tenure in office.

Out of the Past

Happenings of Days Gone by as Chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times, the Files Reveal.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
Local Miscellany.—The Citizens' band gave a very delightful concert at the Eagle hotel Wednesday evening. After a relaxation of 18 months, we welcome the chiming of the St. James' bell.

Dr. Dalbey is erecting an addition to his residence on Baltimore street. A movement has been started among the York churches to eradicate the practice of selling tickets to business men and the general public for church entertainments, lectures and festivals. It is believed that more harm than good is done to the cause of religion by the persistence in the sale of such tickets.

Fifty Years Ago.—Our paper has been delayed for a day from the want of assistance in the office. Our original hands went to war and in the last few days two "journs" skeddaddled. We have been doing our best to get the paper out. Any omission in the arrangement, we trust, will be overlooked.

Pennsylvania College.—The rumor that the college will not be reopened at the usual time and which has grown out of our recent troubles is unfounded. The next session will begin Thursday, the 25th inst.

The Sabbaths in Gettysburg.—On Sabbath a week, our little village was in a state of the highest excitement from the exodus of Frederickers to a place of safety. Every hour some arrived, and were given a place of refuge.

They spent a week with us, and were pleased with their reception here—having been carefully attended to.

The last Sabbath was also one of excitement and interest. "Wars and rumors of wars" were the exciting causes. In the midst of all two regiments of Union cavalry, by order, came into our midst, and spent the afternoon and night here. On Monday, they left for the South, under orders.

The remains of Lieutenant Sadler were brought home for interment under the charge of Lieutenant Minnich yesterday.

Lieut. J. Ross Horner Killed.—This gallant officer fell in the battle of Saturday near Centerville. Lieutenant Horner was the third son of Capt. John Horner, of this county, and was a most excellent and promising young man. He left home on the 3d of April, 1861, for the state of New York where he had been attending college up to the time of his enlistment which took place the following August. He took an active part in raising a company. He was just in the prime of life, being about 25 years of age, with a bright future before him.

Wedding Bells.—Storrick—Bream.—On Saturday, September 14, Norman W. Storrick, of Straban township, and Miss Mary Neva Bream, of Gettysburg, were married at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. McCarrier, in Baltimore. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dunbar, of St. Mark's Lutheran church. They left on a wedding trip to Atlantic City, New York, Norfolk and other southern points and will return to Gettysburg where they will reside, about October 14.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

EPITAPHS

MY REACTION to graveyards is not unpleasant. I'd just as soon live near one as not. Although I must confess that at times I feel that there is a better way to care for the last ashes of those beloved.

For myself, I would like to have the last of mine cremated and the ashes scattered amongst the flowers and under the perches of birds, that I have so much loved—to the four winds at some beautiful spot and so thus settle into the elements of beauty that have made the life of this mortal body happiest.

And for my epitaph I would like to have what little good I have done in the world engraved upon living hearts—to there to silently inspire and beautify for so long as memory might serve.

But to go back to the graveyards! I have spent many an interesting hour in cemeteries reading the lines engraved upon head stones.

In New York City, just a step from Grant's tomb, along Riverside Drive, is a solitary grave with a little iron fence about it. The engraving is nearly effaced by the elements, but the line "an amiable child" still remains.

Over the great tomb of General Grant are these words of his own: "Let Us Have Peace."

That marvelous leader and determined builder, Cecil Rhodes, also left his own epitaph: "So much to do. So little done."

I like the lines on the head stone of Richard Henry Green, the English historian. They read: "Here lies Richard Henry Green, historian of the English People. He died learning."

"Here lies Voltaire," are the only words above the ashes of the man who for nearly a century gave of his restless brain that people might be more tolerant and freer in thought and expression.

What a man does in this world is finally his fittest epitaph.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE CROWD

There were thirty thousand people in the stands,
That means sixty thousand feet and eyes and hands,
And the tasks those hands would do
When that game of ball was through,
And the sights those eyes would see
In the future flashed by me,
And I thought, ere ends this day,
What will all these people say.

There are thirty thousand persons sitting here,
Is it just a crowd that I am sitting near?

Here are thirty thousand names,
But how many hopes and aims?
How many thoughts are wrapped
In those hatted heads and capped?
How many deeds of worth
From this crowd shall come to birth?

There were thirty thousand people in the stands,
Just a mob of living things with feet and hands,

They were laughing then, but oh,
Soon the gayest grief must know.
Be it woman, be it man,
Each must think and toil and plan,
And I shuddered sitting there
At the pain that throng must bear.

There were thirty thousand persons in one place,
What a multitude of dreams and hopes to face!

What a throng of joys and sorrows
Waiting there for the tomorrows.
Who would hazard now a guess
At the sum of happiness,
Or the thoughts as yet untold
Thirty thousand people hold.

350 York street, Gettysburg, Pa.

By David Cory

And now, boys and girls, since the two little fox cubs are home with Daddy and Mammy Fox, as I mentioned in the last story, let us see what the little rabbit boy has been doing. He had seen Slyboots and Bushytail, you remember, as they started out on their hunting trip. He had watched them trot down to the Old Duck Pond, but after that had lost sight of them. So, twinking his pretty pink nose to catch the scent of some enemy in the wind, and finding none, he hitched up his knapsack and hopped along. It was now dark, although Mrs. Moon up in the sky did her best to light the path for the little bunny boy. But moonbeams are not as strong as sunbeams, Oh, dear, no!

And pretty soon, he lost his way. Yes, sir, that's just what he did, although he had tried mighty hard not to. "What shall I do?" he asked himself, right out loud, not thinking for a moment that somebody would answer him.

"Lost your way! Well, I should smile When it's only half a mile To your little bungalow Mid the bramble bushes low."

all of a sudden cried a voice, and there stood Rastus Coon, the moonlight shining on his droll little face, with its white ring about the pointed nose, spreading into black rings around each eye. Yes, sir, there stood the owner of the voice, Rastus Coon, the Little Brother to the Bear, as he is often called.

"Hello, Rastus," cried the little rabbit, much relieved to find a friend. "Those big black rings about your eyes look just like smoked glasses. Why, come to think of it, they look like automobile goggles!"

"I've no time to talk," answered Rastus Coon. "I'm off on a raid!"

"A what?" asked the curious little bunny.

"A trip to the cornfield," explained the old coon.

"Dear me, the Kind Farmer won't like that," cried the little rabbit.

"He'll never miss a few ears of corn," answered Rastus Coon. "Come along; you'll be going toward home," and without more ado, off went the old coon on a run, stepping on his toes like a dog. And after him hopped the little rabbit, clipperly clip, lipperty lip. All of a sudden, Rastus Coon stopped and turned back.

"What's the matter?" asked the little rabbit.

"Forgot about something," explained

presently a little pointed face, with straight-up ears and bright eyes, looked out of the dark hole which served as the front door to Rastus Coon's hollow tree house.

"Tell your mother I'm ready," cried the old coon, with a wink at the little rabbit, so interested in what was going to happen that he had already forgotten that he had lost his way.

"Mighty glad I remembered to turn back in time," whispered Rastus Coon, and in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

ed Rastus, with a grin.

"Anything important?" questioned the bunny boy.

"Well, rather," snickered Rastus. "The fact is, Mrs. Coon and the youngsters were going with me. Just a minute," and the old coon hastened toward a big hollow tree. The next minute came a sound of scratching and a chorus of grunts and whinings, and the bunny boy.

Simple Home Recipe
For Bad Stomach
Gives Swift Relief

If you are a victim of Stomach Troubles—Gas, Sourness, Pain or Bloating—you may have quick and certain relief by following this good advice.

Artificial digestion and starvation diets are seldom needed. Within reason, most folks may eat what they like, if they will keep their stomach free from souring acids that hinder or paralyze the work of digestion. And the best and easiest way to do this is to follow every meal with a little Bisurated Magnesia—a pleasant, harmless form of Magnesia that swiftly neutralizes acidity and keeps your stomach sweet and clean.

A few days' trial of Bisurated Magnesia (powder or tablets), which any good druggist can supply at trifling cost, should quickly convince you that fully 99 per cent of ordinary stomach distress is absolutely unnecessary. Try Bisurated Magnesia today!—adv.

Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19:—"My baby had eczema for three months and nothing seemed to do him any good until I tried your product. His cheeks were red and covered with blisters, and the itching was so annoying that he could not sleep.

After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin practically clear. Your ointment is really wonderful and I will praise it to everyone." A. C. SWISHER SEEKS OFFICE

A. C. SWISHER
Of Cumberland Township

ASKS NOMINATION FOR REGIS-TER AND RECORDER, FOR WHICH HE IS QUALIFIED.

A. C. Swisher, of Cumberland township, is a candidate for the office of Register and Recorder of Adams county.

Mr. Swisher has been a resident of Adams county all his life, and has been very active in the affairs of his party. He has never before been a candidate for any county office. He is now serving the third term as assessor of his township.

While a worker for the party, Mr.
Swisher never sought any office until this time, and this was occasioned by his injury of four years ago, when he fell and broke his hip, which has prevented him from working all this time, except that which he could do with his hands and brain. He has been forced to use crutches since his injury.

He is asking the voters of the county to nominate him for Register and Recorder, because he is eminently qualified to fill this important office, and because it will help him earn a living for himself and family. He has always been a hard worker until the time of his injury.

Mr. Swisher is asking that the people of the county give him the office where he can earn that which he needs. His promise to them in return is that he will be their faithful servant, and take care of this office in a way that will be pleasing to the many who have business there.

It will be impossible for him to see all the voters of the county. He cannot travel around as rapidly as he could before being injured, but asks each voter to consider his case well, and inquire where he is known as to his ability and straight forward dealings with all men. He has been fair and honest in every transaction, and his nomination will but show the approval of those who wish to see an honest man succeed in life.
